ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION IN PRACTICE – BENEFITS EVERYONE

Everyone is talking about saving money and protecting the environment. LEIBINGER EcoSolv combines the two. When used in LEIBINGER inkjet printers, the EcoSolv recycling system saves solvent and thereby protects the environment. The solvent consumption of the JET3up and JET2neo inkjet printer series is already very low when they leave the factory, but integrating EcoSolv reduces it further by up to 40%! This reduction not only benefits the environment, but also simultaneously decreases the costs for consumables as well as the emissions. In addition to the economical and ecological advantages, increasingly strict environmental regulations provide an additional argument for using solvents as efficiently and responsibly as possible.

SOLVENT SAVINGS OF UP TO 40%!

EcoSolv recovers the evaporated solvent from the printer exhaust air through condensation and directs it back into the supply tank. The LEIBINGER recycling system was developed specifically for use in environments with high temperatures ($>20^{\circ}\text{C}$, $>70^{\circ}\text{F}$). Evaporation increases drastically at such high temperatures, which increases solvent consumption as well. In these circumstances, the use of LEIBINGER EcoSolv allows up to 40% less solvent consumption compared to when EcoSolv is not used.

EASY INTEGRATION INTO LEIBINGER INKJET PRINTERS

The solvent recycling system has countless benefits and can be used with all common standard color inks. EcoSolv is available as an equipment option for the JET3up and JET2neo printer series or as an add-on kit. It contains the compact, completely pre-assembled EcoSolv, which is screwed on at the provided locations.
